The Light of God.

Last weekend my wife & I were soaking at home, & then as we were soaking I saw us all in here (the Main Hall of ANC) worshipping God. I was looking up at the ceiling & from over in the corner the ceiling started to disappear & the light of God shone in. More of the ceiling continued to disappear until there was no ceiling on here at all. The light of God was shining really, really brightly. The next day we were soaking again, & God showed me the same thing but it was outside in a beautiful park with lots of trees, the light of God was just shining down. I believe that God's saying through that, that we need to take out what we've got in here in this building, & what we've got in here in our hearts, out to the people, out to Leicester, out to wherever we live. We've got to take it out, so it's not just in here so people don't know about it, everybody needs to know about what God's doing in our lives, everybody needs to know what God can do in their lives as well.
