

Chad Dedmon - 28/6/08

I really do feel that there is a spirit of adoption on this house that this is called to be a Father's house that the love of the Father would be released. There is something about this place being a safe place for the presence and that people would come here and that they would get touched by the Father's love. Because this is what Jesus needed, if Jesus needed a baptism in the Father's love, a baptism of the Spirit how much more do we need it. He had that Father shout from the heavens, 'This is my Son, whom I love, in Him I am well pleased.' If Jesus needed that affirmation, that place of attention and affirmation from the Father, that love exchange then we need it so much as well. And I really feel that this is going to be a house that really carries that, not only in this region but for England. I saw this place being like the Father's house. You're free to be who you are here. You're free to be a son; you're free to be a daughter. And it's going to release, I believe, one of the greatest waves of evangelism that you are going to carry. You're beginning to take ownership over a city, over a region, over a country and that the Lord is releasing this invitation and you are saying yes to it. And it's a place of knowing the Father's heart, not to get another notch on the belt of who's saved and who's in our church, but that you carry the Father's heart. And that you care about the one, and you care about the multitude because you want them all to encounter the Father's love. And when it comes from that place it brings health. You don't just have a church of people who are walking in signs, wonders and miracles but you have a lot of people who are healed up. This is going to be a place of healing, not only in the physical but a place of healing in the emotional. And I saw this church become like a transformation centre. And I saw that your church had sections, that there was a house of prayer and worship and there was a house of healing. That there will be healing rooms and people knew from different regions to come here if they needed healing in their physical body. But then it was coupled with the healing of the mind and healing of the heart. And there was a sozo ministry here and then there was a soaking room and all of these things were intermixed to transform a city. So I saw this house as a transformation centre and it's going to be a place of the Father's love.